

The rules adopted by the FCC regarding obtaining written consent to send fax communications have the potential to hinder efficient operations of our non-profit activity. While we understand the desire to eliminate junk mail type faxes, we do not wish to be shut out of sending legitimate, though unrequested, communications to the volunteers and higher education entities with which we work. As a member of ASAE, I urge you to consider the impact on voluntary associations.